

Security at your fingertips.

Turn to Shanahan's for unsurpassed security solutions and risk management.

Invasions, threats, oversights – trouble can strike at any time, with unfortunate consequences for your people and business. It's why we believe no building or premise is complete until it is protected.

We design, install, integrate, monitor and maintain all fire and life safety systems. Our broad portfolio of products and solutions are all flexible and seamlessly integrated – ensuring nothing is overlooked.

Our first critical step is to check for vulnerabilities on your premises: any weakness that can be potentially exploited. We ensure your security system offers unparalleled invasion detection and monitoring, readily able to stop a threat from triggering a risk event. We also employ Defense in Depth: the philosophy that we never rely on a single security measure alone. Our fully networked security systems are backed by industry leading video and access control components, including but not limited to, full streaming digital and analog video, and fiber optic cabling to interface with advanced video analytics. By combining the latest in hardware and software technology we are able to provide solutions that significantly reduce risk. Whether you are protecting your employees, information or property, we want you to feel confident and prepared with a security system designed just for you. For security you can trust... trust Shanahan's.
